May 20, 1953

To His Excellency the Governor and Honorable Council:

The annual report of the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health is herewith respectfully submitted.

While specifically for the year ended June 30, 1952 it also covers the progress made since the famous "Perkins Report" submitted to the Governor and General Court in 1949. At that time the institutions had been permitted to deteriorate to the point where they were a menace to the health and safety of patients and personnel. They were understaffed and overcrowded; food was insufficient, of poor quality and poorly prepared; fire protection was inadequate; plumbing was antiquated and out of repair; and there was no place for 2000 children waiting for admission to special schools.

The Department of Mental Health was authorized to embark immediately upon a five-year plan to improve conditions.

We are pleased to report that substantial progress has been made in establishing a first-class mental health program for Massachusetts. Following is a dual report, covering both what has been done to date and what remains to be done in order to complete this program.

FOREWORD

One hundred and ten years ago, when Charles Dickens visited this country, he described the Boston Insane Hospital, in his "American Notes," as follows:

"I found it admirably conducted on ... enlightened principles of conciliation and kindness ... a hundred times more efficacious than all the straight-waistcoats, fetters and handcuffs that ignorance, prejudice and cruelty have manufactured since the creation of the world."

The famed English author's visit was made three years after the opening of that municipally operated hospital, and nine years after the opening, in 1833, of the Worcester State Hospital. The latter was the "first state institution exclusively for the pauper insane in the United States," and reputedly the oldest of its kind anywhere.

The year 1833 marked a new era for the mentally ill, both in public responsibility for their care and in establishing methods for their treatment. Previously, the insane or feeble-minded, unless their families could keep them at home, were likely to be confined to jails or almshouses. There was one private institution, McLean Hospital, established in 1811.

Among thoughtful men and women of the period, who, by their work and by arousing public opinion, gradually improved conditions for the insane were Dorothea Lynde Dix, Dr. Samuel B. Woodward (superintendent of the first State Hospital), Dr. Samuel G. Howe, Horace Mann, and Dr. Edward Jarvis.

In 1848, the Massachusetts School for the Feeble-minded (now the Fernald State School) was opened -- another "first" for Massachusetts.

The second half of the last century saw Massachusetts forging rapidly ahead as a pioneer and a model to other states in her program for the mentally ill. Against strong opposition, she opened mental wards for chronic insane, in 1866, at the State Almshouse. Her hospital wards for special treatment of acute cases, at the Danvers State Hospital, were among the first in the country. The scientific laboratories at McLean and the State hospitals were, again, "firsts"; as was the McLean Hospital training school for mental hospital nurses.

For years she was the only state to place quiet chronic patients to board in families. She was also early among the states in providing a public institution for epileptics.

Just before the century's close, a State Board of Insanity, forerunner of the present Department of Mental Health, was formed.

With the 1900's came the system of colonizing the chronic insane on farms; the second psychopathic hospital in America, in Boston; extension of out-patient clinics; mental examination for all indicted by a grand jury for a capital offense and for all prisoners; a mental hygiene division for pre-school children and traveling school clinics for retarded children.

But in recent years, Massachusetts, having achieved a state of preeminence, attempted to rest on her laurels. Her mental institutions were neglected in financial and public support. Hours were shortened for employees without adding enough new employees to compensate. Modern and more effective methods of treatment could not be fully utilized because of the shortage of trained personnel. This shortage was in large measure due to salary scales, but it was also affected by the lack of trained people, with the resultant keen competition for their services.

A few quotations from a detailed report by the then Commissioner of Mental Health, Clifton T. Perkins, M. D., describes the situation in 1948 and 49:

"...we haven't enough well-trained doctors, or nurses, or occupational therapists, or other personnel indispensable to proper bedside care of patients and execution of therapeutic programs either within the hospitals or in the clinics... In short, we haven't enough of anything except the crying needs of our patients and of the communities which seek our help...

"Between 12 and 20 percent in (personnel) vacancies, a dangerous level is reached... At this percentage level, we have the overcrowded wards, understaffed services, unchecked fights between patients, industrial accidents, and serious reduction of rates of discharge... As of September, 1948, over-all vacancies were 24.45 percent...

"The 12 hospitals for the insane... are overcrowded by 19 percent, or 3,418 patients...

Foreword - 3

"The... one hospital devoted exclusively to the treatment of epilepsy is... overcrowded by 25 percent, or 292 patients. In addition, there is a waiting list of approximately 250.

"The... three schools for the feeble-minded... are overcrowded by 25 percent, or 988 patients... Some 4000 have been considered on the waiting list for admission to the schools...

"The demands for care (of psychotic children) have now far outgrown the facilities available..."

This forthright report of the unhappy and unhealthy conditions in the State mental institutions brought action from the Executive Department and from the Legislature. The Department of Mental Health was immediately given the power to set up an improvement program.

The progress made to date, as well as a report of what is yet to be completed in this program, follow.

PROGRESS REPORT

PERSONNEL

Authorized personnel has been increased to 8,980. Vacancies have decreased from 20 percent to 4.42 percent. The only serious shortage of personnel now is in the categories of psychiatrist and psychiatric nurse.

All employees are now on a forty-hour week, excepting physicians, engineers, stewards and head farmers.

There is a training program for physicians, cooperating with the three medical schools of the Commonwealth and using their facilities, as well as private institutions, to better train our physicians. There is an in-service training program for attendants in practically all of the hospitals and a formal course for licensed attendant nurses in Westboro and the Gardner State Hospital.

NEEDED

More doctors and nurses must be recruited. To do this, it will be necessary to increase the pay scale slightly and make their working conditions more satisfactory.

There must be more employees in all categories to staff new units and to care for chronic patients.

FOOD

All patients, staff and employees now eat the same food prepared in the same kitchen, in each institution.

All institutions serve the same menu on a given day. This results in savings through (1) better use of free surplus commodities; (2) buying in a favorable market; (3) buying in bulk; (4) more effective use of produce from our own farms.

Diets, planned by a committee representing the institutions and the central department, are adequate, well balanced and carefully prepared.

In spite of rising food costs in the open market, we are able to feed our patients at $0.54 per patient per day for raw food.

NEEDED

Still further attention must be given to planning variety in the menus. We also can effect further economies with central food processing plants. This program is partially under way at the Myles Standish State School.

BUILDINGS AND HOSPITAL PLANTS

1. An entirely new institution, Myles Standish State School, now in operation. A 2,060-bed institution for retarded youngsters, it is the most modern of its kind. It is situated in a large, wooded area where a huge food processing plant operates. Facilities for industrial training, particularly in farm work, will be unsurpassed. The buildings are models of efficiency, with no frills but with every worthwhile and usable modern facility.

2. At the Wrentham State School two new buildings totaling 378 beds are being constructed to care for the more seriously ill retarded children.

3. At the Belchertown State School a large modern infirmary building, for 231 students, has been constructed. This expands the capacity of this school for caring for the younger and more seriously afflicted youngsters.

4. At the Fernald School two buildings are being constructed. One of 100 beds is for the care of acutely ill children and infants who are severely afflicted, and the second of 250 beds is an institution to care for the mentally defective blind. This latter institution is a model of careful planning, designed to rehabilitate these children to their place in the world, or, if that is not possible, to care for them comfortably throughout their lives. When opened, it will be the outstanding facility of its kind.

5. The care of mental patients with tuberculosis is an extremely complicated medical problem -- one now receiving the attention of many of the leading medical organizations in America. Present planning has placed us well in the advanced group so far as care of these patients is concerned.

In 1949, this State had only one crowded building for the care of patients with mental disease and tuberculosis, at the Boston State Hospital. Other hospitals in the system had a small section or ward set aside for their care. These facilities represented a health hazard in the institutions where they existed. Also, the staff could not be specialized and treatment, therefore, was not adequate.

We now have in use:

(a) a new tuberculosis unit for 70 mental patients at the Northampton State Hospital;

(b) a new unit for the care of mental patients with tuberculosis at the Foxborough State Hospital; and

(c) a new chest disease hospital at the Westborough State Hospital, for 300 patients.

At this last institution there is every facility for surgery of the chest and diagnosis of chest conditions. By concentrating the acutely ill and the surgical cases in this one institution, we are able to afford every type of modern surgical and diagnostic facility for tuberculosis.

The patients suffering from tuberculosis are no longer in the hospitals caring for the general mentally ill but are in separate buildings operated on the campuses of these several hospitals. We are one of the first States to have complete segregation of tuberculosis patients.

6. At the Metropolitan State Hospital a modern children's psychiatric unit is under construction, with every facility to care for 150 children suffering from acute mental diseases. At present, psychotic children -- who must be segregated by Massachusetts law -- are assigned to the Metropolitan State Hospital, but inadequate provision is made for treating them. The new unit will be on the grounds of the hospital, but far separated from the adult unit.

7. At the Gardner State Hospital, a modern psychiatric unit to care for all types of acute mental problems has been constructed. Previously patients from this area with treatable mental problems had to go to other parts of the State for therapy. The 120-bed building is one of the finest and best equipped of its kind in our system and compares favorably with institutions of similar types in other states.

8. At Monson State Hospital, a colony for epileptics which had fallen into disrepair, new buildings have been opened and plans are underway for construction of additional buildings.

9. At the Boston Psychopathic Hospital, plans are being drawn for an addition to house out-patient services and other services so as to increase the effectiveness of the use of the limited number of beds. Money for this extension was appropriated by the last Legislature.

10. At the Worcester State Hospital, an appropriation by the last Legislature will permit new construction at the main building to accommodate 820 patients and will replace the Summer Street building.

Summer Street is the oldest hospital in the Massachusetts system and one of the oldest in America. Industry and private enterprise have been allowed to encroach upon the grounds until it has been surrounded by factories and there is no place for adequate exercise or therapy of the patients outside of the building. There has been no attempt to modernize the internal structure, and it is a serious fire hazard, even though very well kept so far as cleanliness is concerned. It represents a distinct fire hazard. The Chapel wing is deemed so hazardous that patients and employees are not permitted to go there. It is felt that this unit should be disposed of after facilities are provided on the main grounds for the care of these patients.

11. At the Danvers State Hospital, plans are nearly completed for a new building for treatment of acute patients.

Funds were appropriated by the last Legislature.

12. Many of the buildings throughout the system were fire hazards. Internal structures of the buildings were of wood on wooden beams, fire escapes were poorly constructed and exposed to the elements so that during many months of the year they were covered with snow and ice and almost useless, and there were no adequate sprinkling or other fire extinguishing systems.

We are fairly well along with a program of installing sprinkler systems, enclosed weatherproof fire escapes, fire-proofed stairways, and in some instances fireproofing of entire buildings in the following institutions: Boston State Hospital, Danvers State Hospital, Gardner State Hospital, Medfield State Hospital, Northampton State Hospital, Taunton State Hospital, Westborough State Hospital, Worcester State Hospital, Monson State Hospital, Belchertown State School, W. E. Fernald State School, Templeton Colony of the Fernald School, and the Wrentham State School.

13. In some buildings, due to old, out-of-repair plumbing, patients could not be bathed more than once a week or once in ten days. Bathing and toilet facilities were not only inadequate but in some instances hazardous to health.

Plumbing modernization projects have been carried out or are now in process in the following institutions: Boston Psychopathic Hospital, Boston State Hospital, Danvers State Hospital, Gardner State Hospital, Grafton State Hospital, Medfield State Hospital, Metropolitan State Hospital, Northampton State Hospital, Westborough State Hospital, Worcester State Hospital, Monson State Hospital and the Wrentham State School.

14. Kitchens throughout the system have become antiquated and allowed to fall into disrepair through poor maintenance and the failure to provide modern equipment as old equipment wore out. As an example, there was a bad explosion in the kitchen of the Northampton State Hospital which injured one employee.

Since 1949, kitchen modernization and repair projects have been undertaken in the following institutions: Foxborough, Northampton, Westborough and Worcester State Hospitals, Fernald State School, and the Templeton Colony of the Fernald School.

year, a rehabilitation program for the chronic or continued care patients was inaugurated, at a cost of $225,000 a year. A total of 119 new employees, including many technically trained personnel, were hired for the project.

As of July 1, 1952 there are 220 more patients in family care or on visit than there were one year ago. Even at the present rate -- and the rate is expected to increase as the program gains momentum -- the hospital would be discharging enough patients each year to more than pay the cost of the experiment.

Since each of the patients would, otherwise, have been in the hospital an average of five years more, the overall saving to the State is very substantial. Also, over and above what this experiment has done for the individual patient and his family, it has resulted in better conditions for those who remain at the hospital, which has been caring for 37 percent more patients than it is equipped to handle.

The unfortunate children will, of course, continue to accumulate to some small degree in the schools. New buildings for these children are now being constructed, as previously described.

2. The last Legislature gave approval of four more clinic teams, each comprising a psychiatrist, psychologist and social worker, to increase our out-patient therapy program. This program aids behavior problem children and adults with mild disorders or adults who have been discharged from hospitals.

3. As a beginning in better care of our aging and aged people, the last Legislature made available funds to renovate a building at Foxborough, situated in the Farm Colony, to experiment with a new plan.

NEEDED

1. Additional expansion of our out-patient therapy program. We now have 26 out-patient clinics. However, there are waiting lists 3 to 6 months long for patients who need treatment so they may live useful lives and not become a burden to the community.

2. Also needing additional attention is the growing problem of care of the aging. At present, problems connected with the aging are handled by three departments: Mental Health, Public Health and Public Welfare.

Each department's responsibility is not clearly defined, and there is a need of a better plan for overall care of our aging citizens, both in the field of prevention and in the field of rehabilitation of them when they become chronically upset.

In our institutions today there are some 10,000 patients 60 years of age and over. Of these, between 500 and 1,000 could be discharged if there were someone to look after them.

The whole problem of the aging population is one needing careful study by the State. The Recess Sub-committee on Problems of the Aging has been studying the overall condition of our aging citizens and is beginning to make some well-formulated plans. The Department of Mental Health has cooperated with this committee and made a report to it, a digest of which follows:

REPORT ON PROBLEMS OF THE AGING

Institution Requirements - Physical Care

Institutions caring for aging citizens need:

- (1) Provision for careful periodic health examinations and a complete infirmary for patients who become ill;
- (2) A good dietary department, to encourage better food habits of older patients who are inclined to neglect eating unless food is well prepared and served;
- (3) Personnel selected for their understanding of the emotional and physical needs of the patients -- who sometimes become forgetful, confused, upset, cantankerous, or even assaultive;
- (4) A section of the hospital or home where there is freedom, but with sufficient supervision to anticipate any physical or mental decline.

Institution Requirements - Psychological Care

Older people are often lonely. They have frequently outlived their family and friends and feel they have also outlived their usefulness. They will be happier both mentally and physically if they are actively occupied and interested. Institutions for their care should include:

- (1) Workshops or occupational shops, where the more vigorous may learn new marketable skills or improve old ones, with the purpose of seeking part-time work, and where others may fill in their days with an avocation;

- (2) Recreational activities, held in as club-like an atmosphere as possible. The environment should be flexible enough so that those who prefer small groups may participate in amusements involving only two or three persons.

Community Care

- (1) Institutions like those described above should be open during the day for elderly relatives of those who work. Thus, the older people could have supervision, activities and companionship during the day and be picked up by their families at night. Other patients might be kept in the institution only at night, if the family lacks bedroom facilities to care for them or if the patient becomes confused only at night.
- (2) There should be a continuing public campaign with labor unions and industry to encourage keeping able-bodied persons in industry as long as possible. Arrangements for part-time work, or shorter hours, or some other type of schedule within the physical resources of the older worker should be made.

Plans

- (1) Family care, with community club or recreational facilities for daytime use, is cheapest. A prolonged and well-planned public educational program is needed to overcome reluctance of some people to keep their older relatives at home.
- (2) Nursing homes are fairly economical, but offer little in recreational facilities, and food is not always adequate.
- (3) One large institution especially for the aging would have the advantage of multiple resources. Its principal disadvantage would be that some families would have to travel long distances to visit these patients.

- (4) Existing institutions might have sections or buildings set aside for the care of older citizens. This plan would give better distribution over the State, ease of transfer of patients to infirmaries and back, and would be cheaper because the central administrative, engineering and dietary staff would function for both divisions of the institution.

ADMINISTRATION

Present laws governing the Department of Mental Health would make it possible to operate such institutions. Patients could be admitted on a voluntary status in practically all instances. The occasional one who becomes very much upset and paranoid and must be transferred into the main division of the hospital may be held on 35-day papers and in many instances may again quiet down and be willing to resume his voluntary status. If not, he could have a hearing and be committed.

This program could be operated as a specialized department within any State department. The institutions should not be called hospitals or mental institutions, but should have some name like a Village, Town or Club, to indicate that the residents are living there because of age rather than any particular physical or mental infirmity.

The plan should be organized legally, so residents can have full advantage of old age assistance or pension programs. Legal arrangements should be such that from their pensions or other allotment they pay the established rate for patients in the institutions and the balance is deposited to their credit for them to spend as they see fit.

In contrast with 1949, when only two physicians and the business office were attempting to carry on the very extensive administrative duties, all administrative positions in the Department have been filled. An excellently trained person from the Harvard School of Public Health has recently accepted the last empty post, that of Chief of the Division of Mental Hygiene.

NEEDED

1. In order to hold these very competent people it will be necessary to increase their compensation. They have all come to us at considerable financial sacrifice and in fairness to them the compensation should be commensurate with their ability.

Our principal competition for psychiatrists is with the Veterans Administration and private practice, who can outbid us by several thousand dollars per year. Some correction must be made in this deficiency, although it will not be necessary to meet them on a 100 percent basis in order to compete.

A step in this direction was made by the last Legislature, which approved an increase of approximately $600 per year for the psychiatrists. This still leaves our salary scale below that of the Veterans Administration and New York State, but it is an improvement.

2. Another large area of administrative responsibility that must be carried on is in the field of public education. This is essential from two points of view:

- (a) and most important, if we are to do an overall preventive program in mental health and thus increase the happiness and efficiency of the people of the State; and
- (b) if we hope to reduce the incidence of mental illness, crime and immorality.

In addition, through public education the taxpayers will be informed of how their money is being spent on mental health and of the value of the mental health program to them.

To accomplish these aims requires a planned public education program, with both staff and the facilities for publication.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

Great progress has been made in providing more adequate religious services and chaplains' counselling services in all of the institutions. A fulltime chaplains' program was authorized by the 1951 Legislative session.

The Department acknowledges its appreciation for the cooperation of the Archdiocesan Offices, the Massachusetts Council of Churches Chaplains' Committee, and the United Jewish Chaplains' Committee.

NEEDED

Still more services along these lines are needed, and some further revision in salary scales.

RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

One of the essential features of the department, as established by law, is research into the causes of mental diseases. Our present budget allows for the operation of extensive research departments in five of the institutions and smaller divisions in some of the others. Funds come from both State and outside grants, including the Federal government and various private foundations. We are fortunate in having the active collaboration of research departments at Harvard University, Boston University, Clark University, and the Worcester Foundation for Research.

More than 100 research projects are now under way in these institutions. They cover the entire spectrum of research activity, from the use of social workers or nurses in group therapy to the detailed cytological study of the effect of mental diseases on the constituents of the blood and brain of patients.

Many articles have been published in the past year, and three books have been published by various members of the department.

REPORTS OF INDIVIDUAL INSTITUTIONS

BOSTON PSYCHOPATHIC HOSPITAL

This institution has continued to operate at a high level of efficiency in terms of treatment and discharge of patients, examination of patients for the courts and the carrying out of extensive programs in research and teaching. It continues to deserve its reputation as the outstanding hospital of this type in the world. A total of 900 patients were admitted during the past year and a total of 909 were discharged. Of this number only 110 were transferred to other institutions and two died. The others were able to return to the community - some completely discharged and others to report back to the clinic for follow-up care. The last session of the Legislature provided funds for expanding the facilities of the Southard Clinic which is the out-patient department of this hospital. The Legislature also provided funds for expanding the facilities of the hospital to include increased space for the Southard Clinic, space for the operation of a "day hospital", for expansion of the space for the research unit, and to include beds for acute treatment and diagnostic problems in children.

This institution needs still more personnel to expand the clinic. Apparently almost any number of people can be handled there. The hospital needs further expansion of its recreational facilities. Also, an additional appropriation is needed to complete the originally approved building plans for which part of the money was appropriated at the last session of the Legislature.

BOSTON STATE HOSPITAL

This institution has enjoyed a year in which its staff was at full quota. They have had 772 permanent quota personnel in addition to 119 authorized as "excess quota" for an experiment in rehabilitation. During the year 1415 patients were admitted to the institution and 1356 were dismissed. On July 1, 1952, there were 3,041 patients hospitalized in this institution.

The program at this hospital during the year has been one of increasing emphasis on the rehabilitation of the continued care patients, the application of all forms of modern therapy to the patients on the reception services, a very active research program with 44 projects underway and active participation of various members of the staff in the training programs both in this institution and in the Universities of the vicinity. Students in psychology social service schools, nursing schools, theological schools and medical schools use the facilities of this institution. Plans are underway to erect a medical and surgical building in order that these functions may be centralized in one unit to increase the over-all efficiency of the hospital. Appropriation was made for the plans but funds to actually construct the building are to be requested at the next session of the Legislature. Overcrowding continues to be a major problem in this institution -- the average percent of overcrowding for the year being 37%.

DANVERS STATE HOSPITAL

This institution has operated at its custom level of efficiency during the past year. A total of 808 patients were admitted during the year and 860 were dismissed. At the end of the year 2,492 patients remained on the books. During the year a canteen was opened for the comfort of the patients and employees. Funds were obtained for the construction of an Admission Building and the final plans are being processed for bidding. It is anticipated that this will alleviate the overcrowding and increase the over-all efficiency of the operation of this hospital. The average percentage of overcrowding for the year was 36%. This overcrowding is particularly marked on the wards for elderly female patients where most of the day space is taken up with beds. There are 655 employees for this institution, which gives it a fairly low ratio of employees per patient and there is an urgent need for further nursing service, secretarial and maintenance personnel in this institution. This institution will request the next session of the Legislature for increased professional personnel.

FOXBOROUGH STATE HOSPITAL

This hospital operated efficiently during the last year. There was more difficulty in obtaining satisfactory personnel in this institution than in others, probably due to its location and difficulties about public transportation. During the year 444 patients were admitted and 381 discharged. At the close of the year there were 1267 patients in the institution. While this hospital is also overcrowded the overcrowding was only 14.59%. During the year additional wings were opened on the tuberculosis hospital and the patients with tuberculosis from the female service at the Taunton State Hospital and the male service at the Metropolitan State Hospital were received here for more active care of their lung infections.

The new kitchen program and the flooring program were approaching completion and the hospital presents a very satisfactory appearance from a physical point of view. There are further repairs needed in the power-house and certain of the wards. Renovation of an old area in the hospital and the construction of a new receiving building are needed at this institution. It is planned on the redistricting of the State to give this hospital a larger admission rate than it has had heretofore. One of the physicians from that hospital was brought into the central department and a new Clinical Director from the Massachusetts Training Faculty was employed to work there.

GARDNER STATE HOSPITAL

This institution presents some unique problems but is gradually establishing itself in its new function as one of the receiving hospitals of the system. During the year, 260 patients were admitted there and 279 discharged. At the close of the year 1346 patients were in the hospital. A new 150 bed acute treatment of admissions building was opened at this institution during the year. It is believed that the inauguration of the new facilities in this unit will greatly expand the facilities of this hospital for handling patients with mental difficulties. Special problems are presented at this institution because physically vigorous continued care patients transferred there in past years, to participate in the farm program, are now becoming elderly patients and increasing numbers of them are so enfeebled as to require a great deal of bedside nursing care. Plans are underway for renovation of one of the colony buildings to help care for them and there will need to be some attention to increasing the staff of this institution in order to take care of the larger numbers of patients. With the opening of the new facilities, patients housed in the attic in certain of the central buildings have been moved out of these areas and these areas will be closed to patients hereafter.

Water supply at this institution presents a problem which must be solved over the next few years. A special Resolve of the Legislature was passed for studying this problem to try and reach a satisfactory solution.

GRAFTON STATE HOSPITAL

This hospital presented no special problems during the year. 405 patients were admitted and 335 discharged. At the conclusion of the year there were 1822 patients in the institution. This hospital has an overcrowding that is the lowest in the system, only 6.4% overcrowded. There has been considerable progress in the revamping and rehabilitation of the older building but no new construction. This plant needs a great deal more in terms of physical rehabilitation and there should be construction of a large central service kitchen on the male side. The fact that the hospital is spread out over large areas of the countryside presents serious personnel problems which are not adequately compensated for by the number of personnel authorized. The nursing service at this institution has continued to improve and many small attentions in terms of medical and nursing care have been brought about.

MEDFIELD STATE HOSPITAL

This institution has functioned at an excellent level of efficiency. 335 patients were admitted and 373 discharged during the year. At the end of the year 1598 patients were in the hospital. There is an overcrowding of 7.8%, which is second lowest in the department. One of the outstanding features in the program in this institution has been the group therapy project in which nurses and attendant nurses participate in the group therapy sessions with patients. On visiting the hospital one is impressed with the fact that the disturbed patients in this set-up are much less overactive and destructive than they are in the other institutions. This observation may be partially explained by the relative lack of overcrowding but this is, in my opinion, offset by the fact that the buildings are old and in many cases in need of further repair. The fireproofing program has been gone on fairly well in this institution. This institution is of the cottage plan and while rather inefficient from an administrative point of view it does keep the patients in smaller groups which probably has some beneficial effects in therapy. There is a need for an acute treatment building in this institution which should contain facilities for the hospital and infirmary patients as well as for admissions of patients to the institution. It is believed that a larger section of the state could be served if an admission building was constructed in this institution. Since very little money has been spent on this institution some serious consideration should be given to abandoning it or converting it to other purposes, say the care of the aged, and establishing the staff of this institution in another operation to be constructed, possibly in Metropolitan Boston. Our major difficulty in this institution during the past year has been acquiring an adequate medical staff. There are many vacancies here and there is an urgent need for rounding out the medical group.

METROPOLITAN STATE HOSPITAL

This institution continues to operate as one of the more efficient ones in the system. 682 patients were admitted during the year and 745 were discharged. At the end of the year there were 1867 patients on the books. The Childrens' Unit in this hospital continues to be a very complicated one because of shortage of personnel for their care and because the portion of the building in which they are housed is not suitable for this type of patient. In spite of this the hospital has rendered good service in the care of the acutely ill. Unfortunately, some of the courts and other referral agencies have sent overactive or psychotic defective children to this unit and they remain there complicating the care of the children ill with milder forms of illness. The organization of the building does not permit proper segregation of them. The major problem in this institution is to provide for some type of continuing care of psychotic or psychotic defective children. The new hospital for children was started during the year and at the time of this writing construction is well along. The physical plant of the hospital remains in fair condition but needs rather extensive painting and general rehabilitation, all of a minor sort, but rather extensive in total. The bathing units were completed and new dishwashing units installed and the comfort of the patients has been improved. The patients with tuberculosis are all being transferred from this institution making further beds available to care for elderly and infirm patients. The Halloran Clinic that runs in conjunction with the Childrens' Unit has increased in size and a new clinic team will be assigned there next year. The Childrens' Unit has just inaugurated an affiliation with the Judge Baker Guidance Center which should greatly improve its treatment and training facilities. The most urgent need at this institution is increased number of personnel. We also need increased facilities for the admission of patients. A psychiatric or admission building on the campus of this institution would enable us to process many more patients from the Boston area.

MONSON STATE HOSPITAL

This hospital continued to function as the only institution in the system caring for children with convulsive disorders. 122 Patients were admitted during the year and 120 discharged. At the end of the year 1522 patients were in the hospital. The type of patient coming to this institution continues to be the convulsive who is either physically handicapped in addition to his epilepsy or who has behavior disturbances so severe that he cannot get along outside of an institution. The private practitioners and the clinics about the state continue to take care of most of those who are suitable for rehabilitation. In spite of the quality of patient coming to the institution the staff has labored hard and are to be complimented on the substantial number of patients that have been able to return home. This hospital continues to be very short of personnel and there is urgent need for expansion of the professional and supporting personnel in this institution. There is also need for construction of a new infirmary building, the funds for which were received in the last Legislature, and for further rehabilitation of the kitchens, establishment of a larger central dining facility and expansion of the facilities for the care of disturbed epileptic patients, particularly in the female category. The recreation hall is a distinct fire hazard and needs replacement. The employees' quarters in this institution are inadequate and in this area there is little local housing for the employees, making it imperative that the state supply appropriate quarters.

During the year this hospital found the retirement of Dr. Ball one of the outstanding events of the year. After many years of service, he reached the required retirement age but maintains an active interest in the hospital and attends all the departmental meetings. His assistant of many years duration, Dr. Longpre, served as acting superintendent for a period of six months and then was appointed to fill this vacancy. During this period certain changes in the management of the institution were brought about, most notable being the institution of insulin coma therapy for appropriate schizophrenic patients, the abolition of dry packing as a form of restraint and a sharp decrease in the number of patients placed in other forms of restraint. This institution is also in urgent need of additional personnel. At the close of the year 2384 patients were in residence and the percentage of overcrowding is 33%. A new building for the housing of tuberculous patients has been completed and will be opened in the early months of the coming year. There is an urgent need for the construction of a new admission and treatment building. There is a need for further expansion of the out patient program and for greater participation in the teaching activities of this community.

TAUNTON STATE HOSPITAL

This institution has operated efficiently throughout the year. There were 679 patients admitted and 705 discharged. At the end of the year 2040 were in residence and there was an overcrowding of 35%. This hospital is greatly handicapped in its overcrowding because the type of architecture makes it necessary to put the excess beds in the halls which are supposed to double as day space, thus almost totally depriving the patients of recreational areas. In spite of this the nursing and medical staff have functioned well and have managed to rehabilitate large numbers of patients who have returned to their homes. Major renovations are indicated in this institution and there is need for further expansion of the kitchen and feeding facilities in the area where the more critically ill patients are maintained. Funds were obtained for the renovation of some of the employees' homes which are urgently needed in this institution. An admission building is needed so that acute patients may be properly segregated and treated.

620 patients were admitted to this institution and 653 dismissed during the year. There were 1752 patients in residence at the institution at the end of the year and the overcrowding runs approximately 33%. This hospital was operated during the year handicapped by the fact that Dr. Hadley has been seriously ill and for several months was non-effective. This, plus a serious operation on the Assistant Superintendent, has hampered the program in this institution. In spite of this the staff has carried on well and a substantial number of patients have been returned to the community. A new tuberculous building was constructed and opened. This is in the process of being staffed and it will have patients in it shortly after the close of the year. Efforts have been made in the institution to improve the level of care and to expand the occupational therapy and recreational facilities. A severe epidemic of Flexner type dysentery occurred in the wards where the most ancient and infirm patients are kept, resulting in the death of 11 patients and contributing to the death of 1 employee. The major items now needed at this hospital are; a larger staff in order that the patients can have still more efficient care, and continued renovation and fireproofing of the units at present unprotected.

WORCESTER STATE HOSPITAL

883 patients were admitted to this institution during the year and 815 dismissed. At the end of the year 2831 patients were in residence. The overcrowding averaged about 20% but with 30% overcrowding on the female wards and 7 percent on the male. The research program at this hospital has continued to be very active and the collaboration with the Foundation for Research in Biology at Shrewsbury and with Clarke University has been productive. Funds were obtained for the replacement of Summer Street and plans are underway for the construction of an 820 bed modern hospital unit on the main campus. Plots of land on the lower end of the farm property on the main campus were lost to the federal government and to the Department of Public Works through legislative action. Renovation of the kitchens and certain of the wards of this hospital are required and there is rather urgent need of storeroom facilities in this plant. In all, however, the hospital has operated at an excellent level of efficiency and has been fortunate in being able to maintain a reasonably full staff.

BELCHERTOWN STATE SCHOOL

146 patients were admitted to this institution during the year and 94 were discharged. At the end of the year 1341 patients were in the institution. During the year a new infirmary building housing 250 patients was opened and a great many additional children are now housed there that could not be cared for prior to that time. The hospital needs additional personnel to provide for the training of the more severely handicapped and crippled children. The farm training program at this institution has gone well. There has been some difficulty about the care of the dairy herd. The recreational programs for the students has been an outstanding one. Rehabilitation of some of the buildings on the campus is urgently required, and with further rehabilitation of the power plant the physical plant in the institution should be in reasonably satisfactory condition.

WALTER E. FERNALD SCHOOL

153 patients were admitted to this institution and 116 dismissed during the year. At the end of the year there were 1946 patients in the institution. This school also requires further personnel. The teaching program has been expanded and day school care has been started which greatly increases the efficiency of our operation as it obviates the necessity of providing bed and board for the patients as well as giving the family the satisfaction of having the child home at night. New construction on this campus consists of a hospital building of 150 beds and a building for the feeble minded blind children which will have approximately 250 beds, and renovation of the Narragansett Colony at Templeton Colony. A large dairy unit is also under construction at the Templeton Colony but it will not be ready for occupancy until the spring of 1953. There has been a steady and healthy growth of the research activities in this institution. It is believed that with the completion of the new unit, the completion of the fireproofing and renovation of the present plant and further expansion of the staff that we will have a care program in this hospital of first class.

WRENTHAM STATE SCHOOL

153 children were admitted to this institution and 170 discharged during the year. At the end of the year there were 1879 students in the school. A new infirmary building is under construction at this institution and additions to the storehouse, the hospital for special diseases and a hospital building are in the process of construction. This institution also needs additional staff to care for the children. In spite of the shortage of personnel they have managed to do an outstanding job in training students and a substantial number have gone into the community to take up useful occupations. This institution continues to be tremendously crowded in the infant units and the expansion of facilities to care for these tiny helpless children is urgently needed.

MYLES STANDISH STATE SCHOOL

This institution continued to function as a working students' colony and no patients were admitted directly during this year. There were only 49 admissions, all by transfers from other hospitals and there were 33 discharges to the community to work. There were 658 patients in the hospital at the end of the year. The principal activity on this campus during the year was the completion of the large new plant which will have 2160 beds when completed. It is felt that the institution can be occupied during the fall, probably during the month of October. Construction in the latter phases were held up by a strike in one of the suppliers and by a defective cable which had to be replaced by the manufacturer at no cost to the Commonwealth. With the expansion of the program and the staffing of the new buildings in this institution, it will take its place as an institution capable of admitting and caring for youngsters of all types and categories who suffer from mental retardation and who require special facilities. This plant will be the newest and most modern of its kind when completed and occupied. The nursery buildings and the hospital building will not be complete until next spring but the bulk of the plant is ready for occupancy during the fall of 1952. Great credit goes to the Superintendent and the staff of this institution for their efforts in working in the old barrack-like buildings and for their efforts in attracting sufficient new personnel to open the new units.

REPORT OF THE FINANCIAL DIVISION

(including Financial Statistics for the Year Ended June 30, 1952. Tables 1 to 9 inclusive, immediately follow this report).

The report of the activities of the Financial Division for the fiscal period July 1, 1951 to June 30, 1952 is herewith submitted. The financial and business administration of the Department and the institutions under its control is outlined in detail with reports of Engineering, Farm, Food and other activities. Statistical tables relating to the above activities of the Division are embodied in this report,

The printing plant, conducted by the Department at the Gardner State Hospital, is carried on as occupational therapy for the benefit of patients, and at the same time meets the printing needs of the Department and its institutions. During the period approximately the following material was printed: 388,000 letterheads; 90,000 envelopes; 3,025,000 medical and other forms and cards of 330 varieties; 255,000 pay roll checks; 103,500 Christmas messages and labels; and 12,000 bulletins and booklets.

In Table 1 are brought together in consolidated form expenditures from appropriations controlled by the Department, having to do with the care of patients in hospitals for mental diseases (including epilepsy), and schools for mental defectives.

The expenditures of the Department proper are given in Table 2.

Table 3 shows the amount appropriated by the Legislature for the fiscal year, the receipts from sales, and the gross and net expenses and the net weekly per capita costs of each. As the weekly per capita cost for the Boston Psychopathic Hospital is exceptional compared with that for the other institutions, the average weekly per capita cost for the twelve mental hospitals, when recomputed without the Boston Psychopathic Hospital for 1952 is $21.71.

Table 4 gives in detail the expenses and weekly per capita costs grouped according to the adopted standard of analysis of maintenance expenses of all departments in the Commonwealth.

The average weekly per capita cost per patient for personnel will be noted in Table 5.

Appropriations for construction, permanent betterments, real estate and furnishings, unlike that for maintenance and operation, are made for two to five years, beginning with the passage of the act by the Legislature. Detail of all special appropriations is given in the reports of the Engineering Division and in Table 6 where are shown all of the appropriations of this nature active during the fiscal year. This table deals with indebtedness incurred and balances available, rather than with the actual cash payments and cash balances, and more clearly represents the actual condition of the appropriation, as it shows the true balance available for additional expenditures. In its special appropriation budget request for 1952, the Department asked for $ 34,153,500.00. The amount appropriated was $ 6,322,375.00.

Receipts during the year from paying patients, collected under the direction of the Division of Legal Settlement and Support Claims, are shown in Table 7. The receipts from paying patients were 5.2% of the total cost of maintenance. (Table C.)

Section 27, Chapter 123 of the General Laws reads as follows: "The trustees of each state hospital shall be a corporation for the purpose of taking and holding by them and their successors, in trust for the Commonwealth, any grant or devise of land, and any gift or bequest of money or other personal property, made for the use of the state hospital of which they are trustees, and for the purpose of preserving and investing the proceeds thereof in notes or bonds secured by good and sufficient mortgages or other securities, with all the powers necessary to carry said purposes into effect. They may expend any unrestricted gift or bequest, or part thereof, in the erection or alteration of buildings on land belonging to the state hospital, subject to the approval of the Department, but all such buildings shall belong to the state hospital and be managed as a part thereof". Under this section, institutions have received gifts as shown in Table 8 which have been deposited as funds, the proceeds of which have been used for the benefit of patients in accordance with the terms or restrictions placed thereon by the donor. This Department encourages gifts made under this law and from them special benefits are derived by the patients in ways not always possible from the funds of the Commonwealth.

Table 9 shows the cost of farm products under cultivation, value of products delivered to institution storerooms for patient consumption, and the value of farm products and miscellaneous items sold, for the calendar year.

The reports of the Engineering, Farm and Food sub-divisions follow:

REPORT OF SUPERVISING HOSPITAL CONSTRUCTION ENGINEER
Clarence D. Maynard

The construction of projects authorized by the Legislature was continued and plans for additional facilities for the institutions comprising the Department of Mental Health were prepared. Plans and specifications prepared by architects and engineers were reviewed and the construction work was supervised and the work coordinated with other State departments. Table 6 lists construction projects for which appropriations were made. In addition, the Engineering Division supervised the maintenance and repair projects in the institutions.

The Long Range Program of Construction was prepared and submitted to the Massachusetts Public Building Commission. Investigating trips were made with the Commission and assistance given to them in their study of the items listed.

The Engineers of this division acted as liaison between the architects and the Massachusetts Public Building Commission, checking and following all proposed change orders.

Prices of materials and labor continued to rise, resulting in larger costs per bed.

A modern cafeteria and kitchen was completed at the Foxborough State Hospital and an Admission Building was constructed at the Gardner State Hospital.

Construction of a building for psychotic children was begun for the Metropolitan State Hospital. A building for tubercular patients was completed at the Northampton State Hospital. A large 300-bed unit for tubercular patients was also completed at the Westborough State Hospital. Plans were begun for a new hospital unit to be built at the Worcester State Hospital as a replacement of the Summer Street Division. An infirmary building at the Belchertown State School was completed.

A building for the blind feeble-minded was begun at the Walter E. Fernald State School and a new hospital building completed.

The service building at the Wrentham State School was reconstructed and a girls' infirmary completed.

Work at the Myles Standish State School progressed rapidly.

REPORT OF THE FARM COORDINATOR -- WALLACE F. GARRETT

The poultry project at the Myles Standish State School has been further expanded to provide fresh shell eggs for the several institutions of the Department of Public Health and the Soldiers Home at Chelsea. Each employee assigned to this project supervises 6,000 birds, thus permitting the products to be produced at a minimum of cost.

A contract was awarded for the erection of two barns, dairy and silos at the Templeton Colony for the purpose of furnishing the fluid milk needs of the several institutions located in the Metropolitan Boston area. Completion is anticipated during the spring of 1953.

Freezing facilities were completed at the Foxborough State Hospital and large quantities of vegetables were conserved with excellent results. Similar plants are being installed at the Myles Standish State School, Wrentham State School and Walter E. Fernald State School. To provide some 29,000 pounds of turkey for the Christmas holiday dinners, facilities have been made available at the Foxborough State Hospital to freeze the birds following evisceration.

Control and elimination of mastitis infection in dairy animals throughout the ten herds of the Department has been successful as a result of the infusion and sanitation program being followed.

Production of milk, eggs, meat, vegetables, and forage crops continues at a satisfactory tonnage with a minimum of cost.

REPORT OF COMMISSARY AGENT -- ALBERT E. HOUDE

The second year's practice of a standard patient dietary for all institutions experienced outstanding success in both administration and acceptance.

The outgrowth of this practice of centrally controlled administrative procedures which have influenced desired nutritional standards has developed a "food consciousness" in hospital staffs never before attained.

Related to our objective of evolving standards which will unify administrative procedure and accomplishments pertinent to hospital feeding was the planning of a regional bakery located at the Walter E. Fernald State School which will provide the bread and pastry requirements for five institutions. It is presumed construction will take place during the next fiscal year.

A new hospital kitchen and employees' dining room was completed at the Foxborough State Hospital influencing an outstanding dietary accomplishment which was not attainable with the replaced deteriorated facilities.

* The State Farm which, is under the Department of Correction, and the State Infirmary which is under the Department of Public Welfare, have mental wards where the Department of Mental Health has certain legal supervision of the patients therein. However, the Division of Legal Settlement and Support claims of the Department of Mental Health investigates and collects under the statutes, in the same manner as in the case of institutions directly under the Department. As this Department has no control of their maintenance expenditures, these institutions do not appear on Tables 3 and 4.

NOTE:- The absence of data for years 1914 to 1918 inclusive is due to the fact that figures are not available. Previous to 1918 the report of the Auditor of the Commonwealth did not show a recapitulation giving the Total State Expenses inasmuch as many of the expenses of the State were paid out of funds. In 1924 a comparison of 1923 with 1913 was desired and an analysis of the Auditor's report of 1913 was made, throwing all fund expenditures into the revenue expenditures of that year. This was a task of such magnitude that it has not been deemed advisable to continue covering the years 1914 to 1918 inclusive.
